Mandamus.

Morton Marye, Auditor of Public Ac-OPINION OF THE COURT.

The petition sets out substantially that the politioners, as a department of the government charged with grave public intles, are disabled from the discharge of those duties by the Auditor's consruction of the Appropriation acts and his refusal, therefore, to honor their drafts for the operating expenses of the department and orays for a mandamus requiring him to pay those draits or some of them speciacally named. If the Auditor's construc-tion be wrong and the facts set out in the petition be true, I do not see that the pe-titioners have any other remedy to en-able them to fulfill their public trust. It is undoubtedly true that as a general rule only the holder of the drafts could ask or a mandamus-but I do not think that ule is so unbending as to require a pub-ic efficer, embarrassed in discharging his public duties by the dishonor of his legal demand upon a public treasury, to de-bend upon the action of any other party for the assertion of the only adequate le-I think, therefore, the demurrer should

PROVIDES AN APPROPRIATION. PROVIDES AN APPROVIDED APPROVIDES AN APPROVIDE APPROVIDED APPROVID bly of March 5, 1888. This act has never been positively repealed, and, until the Appropriation act of March 2, 1898, there has been no legislation inconsistent with or repugnant thereto which could have the effect of a repeal by implication. The general appropriation acts since 1888 prior to the last apparently recognized the con-tinued force of the act of March 8, 1888, by embracing in the annual budget an ppropriation in exact correspondence perewith. But the last Appropriation ac of March, 1858, is directly repugnant to the act of March, 1888, in its positive enactment. That in no event shall any portion of the expenses of the Agricul-tural Department be paid out of the publie treasury." This necessarily operate as a repeal from and after the passage of this last appropriation act on the 3d of March, 1898, of the previous authority of the Auditor to pay drafts of the Depart-ment upon the treasury to the amount of $10,000. But until that repeal he had ple authority to do so, and all such pay-ments made, therefore, prior to March 2, 1838, were lawful and completed acts.

THE FERTILIZER ACT. The original Fertilizer act of February 24th, 1899, imposed additional duties on the Agricultural Board, and, in contempla tion of the collection of fees, taxes, etc. authorized by the act, directed the sam be deposited with the Treasurer of the the Fertilizer Fund, and to be kept by he Treasurer separate from other public unds, and only to be paid out on requisi-ions of the Commissioner of Agriculture or the purpose of carrying out the pro-isions of the act—any remainder thereo. to be paid into the general Agricultura Fund-all such deposits, however, to constitute a part of the $10,000 appropriation of the act of March 5, 1888. The act was stitute a part of the $10.000 appropriation of the act of March 5, 1888. The act was subsequently amended by act of March 5, 1896 (Acts 65-6, p. 815), removing the charge of these deposits against the $10.000 appropriation. priation and limiting the authorized ex-penses for carrying out the provisions of the Fertilizer act to the sum of $1,000.

This was the law when the Legislature passed the Appropriation act of March 3, 1895. The provisions of that act differ from the old law in two particulars: First in enlarging the charges upon the Fertilizer Fund. Second, in removing the limiizer Fund. Second, in removing the min-tations of the amount of those charges to the sum of $3,000. But the essential fea-ture of the old law is retained and em-phasized. The collection of fees and taxes are recognized as a continuing deposit to the credit of the Agricultural De-partment, and no part thereof regarded as in the treasury until the end of the fiscal in the treasury until the end of the fiscal year and payment of all authorized expenses of the Department. There is no repugnancy, therefore, in the act of March, 1898, which can be construed as a repeal of the old Fertilizer law, and there can be no legal difficulty in giving as full effect to the legislative will for the whole fiscal year as if the act had been asseed before October 1, 1897.

n passed before October 1, 1897. THE COMMISSIONER'S SALARY. A question of no little difficulty is pre-sented as to the salary of the Commissioner of Agriculture whether under the Appropriation act it is chargeable upon the treasury or upon the Fertilizer Fund. The Commissioner is an officer of the Commonwealth of such high dignity that he is constituted the head of a department of the government; his appointment by the Governor to be subject to the con-sent of the Senate and required to give a bond of $10,000 for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office-all the pro-sumptions would be that his salary was chargeable upon the treasury, and all the antecedent legislation has distinctly made it such. To rebut this presumption and to depart from this aforetime policy of the law, the language of the act mu clear and distinct as to admit of no other reasonable construction.

Now, what says the act: Commissioner of Agriculture, salary of

Then a full period, followed by another sentence: "His clerk, salary of $500, which with all other salaries and expenses of the Bureau of Agriculture shall be paid' from the Fertilizer Fund. Now the rela-tive "which" can only refer to an antecedent in the same sentence, that is the cierk's salary, and, unless the Commissioner's salary, after having been provided for in a sense salary. sionary Society of the First Baptist church Sunday night.

of the Commissioner, it could have been clearly expressed by the use of a colon or semicolon instead of a period—or if the period had been used by the phraseology "which with the Commissioner's and all other salaries," the language of the act is clearly so ambiguous that there is room for reasonable contention as to its conformation in the presumpfor reasonable contention as to its con-struction, and that being so the presump-tion from the dignity of the office and precedent legislation seems to impose the charge of his salary upon the public The Department of Agriculture Case

OUT OF THE TREASURY. I am of opinion, therefore, that up to March 3, 1898, there was no authority of law to pay out of the Fertilizer Fund any expenses of the Agricultural Board exexpenses of the Fertilizing act, and of these, only to the extent of $3,000. That all other proper expenses of the Department of Agriculture up to the amount of $10,000. Agriculture up to the amount of $10,000 were chargeable upon and properly paid out of the public treasury and that so much of that $10,000 appropriation as was then unexhausted remains in the public treasury, and since that date cannot be subject to any of the drafts of the Board, I am further of opinion that all expenses of the Board incurred in the administra-tion of the Fertilizer act, not exceeding the sum of $3,000, were chargeable upon and properly paid out of the Fertilizer Fund, and the Appropriation act of March 2, 1898, having repealed the limitation of $3,000, and enlarged the charges upon that fund, so much of the deposits of the Board made during the fiscal year begin-ning October 1, 1897, as remained to its ning October 1, 1837, as remained to its credit after payment of previous drafts, was thereafter subject to its order for any and all proper expenses of the Beard incurred in discharge of any of the duties devolved upon it by law.

And it appearing that on the 3d of March, 1838, there was, after charging the deposits of the Board since October 1 897, with all expenses incurred in the en foreement of the Fertilizer act, the sum of $1,534.70, and that since then there has been deposited an additional sum of $2,909 and that since March 3, 1898, there has only been drawn from said deposits by the Board the sum of $1.776.16, leaving to the Board the sum of $2.735.34.

I am of opinion that the drafts in the petition referred to should be paid out of that fund and that the mandamus prayed for should be awarded directing the Auditor of Public Accounts to honor the same except Draft No. 6 for salary of the Com-No mandamus can issue there for, the Commissioner being entitled and der the Appropriation act to draw his sal ary from the public treasury without any

WOMAN'S GROWNING VIRTUE.

BELTON, Mo., July 27. For years I suffered terrible pains every month and my doctor told me I could not be cured except by an operation. I felt I could not submit to that and was so despondent I had given up all hopes of a cure. My hus-band insisted on my trying Wine of Cardui and at last thank God I did try Last month I did not have a pain, and did all my work, which I had not done in seven years, MRS. MINNIE LITTLE.

Wine of Caralli Modesty is the crowning virtue of American women. It is the trait that all mankind admires. A modest woman is the most pleasing of all created things. Because of this becoming virtue thousands of women prefer to suffer untold miseries rather than confide their troubles to a physician, and to even think of submitting to an examination is revolting. They can't get their own consent to an operation. Wine of Cardui permits sensitive women to retain their modesty. With it they can cure "female troubles" in the quiet of their own rooms. If special treatment is required they can write to the Advisory Department of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., and their letters will be promptly

LADIES' ADVISORY DEPARTMENT. For advice in cases requiring spe-cial directions, address, giving symp-toms, Laddes' Addesory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Chattanooga, Tenn. answered by women trained in the cure of womanly weaknesses and drains. There should be no hesitation. Delayed treatment means a chronic condition. The longer postponed, the harder to cure. A LARGE BOTTLE OF WINE OF CARDUI COSTS $1.00 AT DRUG STORE.
